

In September 2018, the Discover the World global sales conference was held in the vibrant and developing country of Croatia.

This exclusive conference connected our team to the world of travel; reviewing today's travel landscape and debating the world of tomorrow. We listened to our network of people and our clients as they discussed ways to Step Ahead across all segments of the travel industry.

There was plenty of thought-provoking discussion and lively collaboration. Across diverse panel discussions, meetings and social time, we all left better informed about Discover the World and energized about the future of travel.

Our team was thrilled to leave Croatia with a number of awards...
