

Quick reference guide

What is an Icelandair Stopover?

When passengers fly transatlantic with Icelandair, they can choose to add a Stopover in Iceland at no additional airfare. Stay for a day, or up to a week – and fill every day with real unreal experiences. Travelers can explore everything from geothermal bathing to northern-lights gazing in Iceland, as well as all their final destination has to offer. Two destinations for the price of one!

Connecting in Iceland

Did you know that Icelandair’s route network connects more than 50 destination on both sides of the Atlantic? Connecting with Icelandair is smooth and easy. With Iceland located midway across the Atlantic Ocean, no additional flying time or backtracking is needed on your journey to or from any of our European destinations. Upon arrival at our Keflavik hub, passengers clear Schengen Area passport control and head right to their connecting flights. Keflavik Airport has only one terminal, with just a quick, 20-minute walking time from one end to the other. This leaves you time to spare with our minimum connection time of one hour.
